

The BSA Sociology of Mental Health Study Group is holding a Study Day on Saturday 6th February 2010 on
ALCOHOL AND MENTAL HEALTH

The object of this study day is to provide a forum for both academic and service user/survivor perspectives on the role of alcohol in our society, and its particular relevance for marginalized groups such as women and mental health service users.

The day will begin with short (30 minutes including questions) papers, followed by discussions based on themes to be chosen on the study day by participants. A World Café approach is planned, to facilitate sharing of ideas. The cost will be £10 for BSA members and £20 each for non-BSA members, and will include lunch and refreshments. (There will be a limited number of free places for low and unwaged.)

The event will take place in London at the BSA Meeting Room at Imperial Wharf (nearest underground Fulham Broadway or main line rail station, Imperial Wharf) on Saturday 6th February 2010, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For further information on the location and directions, please visit www.britsoc.co.uk/events/meetingroom.
