Contemporary Perspectives in Family Research

CALL FOR PAPERS

Chinese Families: Tradition, Modernization, and Change

Contemporary Perspectives in Family Research, an annual series which focuses upon cutting-edge topics in family research around the globe, is seeking manuscript submissions for a special volume. The volume will focus on the theme of ‘Chinese Families: Tradition, Modernization, and Change.’ Over the past half of a century, China has undergone a tremendous amount of social, political, and economic change. Its respective family structures and norms have been established over thousands of years, yet modernization and its ensuing culture change have resulted in substantial change to those structures and norms. Over recent years, marriage rates have declined, as have fertility rates, yet cohabitation and divorce have become increasingly common. In order to better comprehend the various changes in Chinese families, as well as their diversity, this multidisciplinary volume of CPFR will focus upon families in Greater China, including mainland China, Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan. In doing so, a wide array of topics will be addressed, including changing forms of dating and mate selection, divorce and remarriage, cohabitation, rural-urban variations in family structures, fertility aspirations, spousal relationships and marital quality, domestic violence, intergenerational relations and elderly support networks, and parent-child relationships, among others.

This volume of CPFR volume will be coedited by Man Yee Kan of the University of Oxford (UK) and Sampson Lee Blair of The State University of New York (USA). Manuscripts should be submitted directly to the editors (man-yeek.kan@sociology.ox.ac.uk and slblair@buffalo.edu), preferably in MS WORD format. Manuscripts should not exceed approximately 40 double-spaced pages (not including tables, figures, and references). Submission of a manuscript implies commitment to publish in CPFR. Manuscripts should adhere to the APA format. Manuscripts should represent previously unpublished work. An abstract of 150-250 words should be included at the beginning of each manuscript. All manuscripts will undergo peer review.

The deadline for initial submissions is October 31, 2019. Any questions may be directed to the editors at man-yeek.kan@sociology.ox.ac.uk and slblair@buffalo.edu.
